Re: Archaeology - Survey Requested

Ms. Kaehler,
Thank you for your correspondence on the need for an archeological survey of the Geerstman property. The demolition of the buildings will occur in two phases. The first phase will be to have the winning bidders enter the site and remove salvageable building materials from 9 of the 10 buildings. The bidders will be removing materials by hand, which is not likely to cause any significant ground disturbance. The second phase will be to demolition and remove the remaining portions of the buildings to an off-site location. This work will be conducted using heavy machinery and will likely cause some ground disturbance in the immediate vicinity of each building.

Would it be possible to request your offices approval for the salvage phase, while we initiate and conduct the archeological survey to cover phase two?

Thanks for your guidance on this issue,
John Lindsey
