

SEPA Comment on 22-049

Received via Public Input on Nov. 23, 2022

You might want to do a little research on the "so-called" Columbia Whitetail deer. According to the old generation, these deer were transported into this area by a farmer living on Puget Island years ago. If they were indigenous they would be more plentiful than Blacktail deer. This is most likely a big waste of Taxpayer money. I would like to see how this determination was made. Could you please list the study and facts that prove they are indigenous. Thanks, Tim Gregory babegreg@hotmail.com