EMERGENCY RULE ONLY

Under RCW 34.05.350 the agency for good cause finds:

(x) That immediate adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule is necessary for the preservation of the public health, safety, or general welfare, and that observing the time requirements of notice and opportunity to comment upon adoption of a permanent rule would be contrary to the public interest.

( ) That state or federal law or federal rule or a federal deadline for state receipt of federal funds requires immediate adoption of a rule.

( ) That in order to implement the requirements or reductions in appropriations enacted in any budget for fiscal years 2009, 2010, or 2011, which necessitates the need for the immediate adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule, and that observing the time requirements of notice and opportunity to comment upon adoption of a permanent rule would be contrary to the fiscal needs or requirements of the agency.

Reasons for this finding: Sets the seventh weekly commercial fishing period for fall season treaty gillnet fisheries. Allow sales of fish caught during open commercial gillnet seasons in areas above and below Bonneville Dam with platform hook and line gear. Continues to allow sales of fish from Yakama Nation tributary fisheries, except that steelhead can only be sold if caught during an open mainstem commercial season. All tributary caught fish sold outside the fishing area must be accompanied by a transport permit. Based on current forecasts, adult fall Chinook and steelhead remain available for treaty Indian harvest. Impact limits to ESA-listed salmonids remain available for treaty Indian fisheries. Harvest is expected to remain within the allocation and guidelines of the 2008-2017 Management Agreement. Rule is consistent with action of the Columbia River Compact on October 18, 2010. Conforms state rules with tribal rules.

Regulations include fisheries that are described in the MOA between Washington State and the Yakama Nation. Regulations also include fisheries that are described in individual MOUs between Washington State and the Umatilla and Warm Springs tribes. The Yakama, Warm Springs, Umatilla, and Nez Perce Indian Tribes have treaty fishing rights in the Columbia River and inherent sovereign authority to regulate their fisheries. Washington and Oregon also have some authority to regulate fishing by treaty Indians in the Columbia River, authority that the states exercise jointly under the Congressionally-ratified Columbia River Compact. Sohappy v. Smith, 302 F. Supp. 899 (D. Or. 1969). The Tribes and the States adopt parallel regulations for Treaty Indian fisheries under the supervision of the federal courts. Some salmon and steelhead stocks in the Columbia River are listed as threatened or endangered under the federal Endangered Species Act. Columbia River fisheries are monitored very closely to ensure consistency with court orders and Endangered Species Act guidelines. Because conditions change rapidly, the fisheries are managed almost exclusively by emergency rule. As required by court order, the Washington and Oregon Departments of Fish and Wildlife convene public hearings and invite tribal participation when considering proposals for new emergency rules affecting treaty fishing rights. Sohappy, 302 F. Supp. at 912. WDFW and ODFW then adopt regulations reflecting agreements reached. There is insufficient time to adopt permanent rules. (10-281, 10/18/2010)
