Volunteer opportunities

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife welcomes volunteers who want to assist in activities that benefit fish, wildlife and habitat.

A variety of volunteer opportunities are available, including projects on state wildlife areas, water access sites, furthering conservation activities and hunter education through the Master Hunter program, and local projects that benefit salmon recovery through Regional Fishery Enhancement Groups.

WDFW uses an online system to make it easier for volunteers to learn about volunteer opportunities and participate. This Community Event Registration and Volunteer Information System, or CERVIS, tracks projects and volunteer hours.

First, potential volunteers must register using a simple online form (or log in to CERVIS if they already have an account) then review the volunteer opportunities that are available.
