

Fluorescent Hunter Pink Now Legal

If you choose to wear pink, the garments must be fluorescent. Pastel and light pink garments are not legal or safe.

During the 2019 legislative session, the state legislature passed Senate Bill 5148. The Fish and Wildlife Commission has adopted rules implementing that legislation, which allow hunters to wear fluorescent hunter pink, fluorescent hunter orange, or both, during hunting seasons that require visible clothing.

Hunters must follow the same requirements for hunter orange when wearing hunter pink. You must wear a minimum of 400 square inches above the waist that is visible from all sides. A hat, by itself, does not meet this requirement.

Hunters may wear fluorescent hunter orange and fluorescent hunter pink on different garments or the same garment.

The online versions of the Washington Big Game and the Migratory Waterfowl and Upland Game Hunting Pamphlets will be updated to include fluorescent hunter pink information.
