RE: Nisqually Access Redevelopment, SEPA response to Ecology

Dear Ms. Wood:

The Washington State Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) has received Ecology's comments and will follow the direction given.

To be clear, this means WDFW will:

- Conduct soil sampling and share the results with Ecology.
- Apply Best Management Practices (BMPs) during construction, including erosion control.
- Ensure there is no discharge to waters of the state.

WDFW does not believe this project meets any of the conditions outlined requiring a Construction Stormwater General Permit. Unless told otherwise, WDFW will not apply for coverage.

Sincerely,

Doug Wiedemeier
WDFW, Permitting Biologist
