Agenda item: HATCHERY POLICY REVIEW WORKSHOP

Presenter(s): Andrew Murdoch, Eastside Fish Science Manager, Gary Marston, Hatcheries Scientist

Background summary:

At the June 15, 2018 Fish and Wildlife Commission (FWC) meeting, the FWC directed the agency to conduct a review of all sections and aspects of the Hatchery and Fishery Reform Policy (C-3619). Subsequently, the following primary project elements emerged:

- Policy Review (Commission Assignment)
  - Science Update and Synthesis, including Emerging Science (led by WDFW; facilitated by Washington State Academy of Sciences)
  - Policy Performance Evaluation document (led by WDFW)
  - Joint Co-manager Hatchery Benefits document – will be authored by tribal and state co-managers examine the socio-ecological role of hatcheries, tribal legal considerations, and the ecosystem services provided by hatcheries.

- Engage Tribal Co-managers in Policy development
- Public Outreach and Engagement (led by consultant and WDFW)
- Commission considers final reports and policy recommendations (synthesizing information from the three documents above, incorporating input from tribes, partners, stakeholders, and the public).

The Commission will participate in a workshop with WDFW Fish Program Science staff. These staff will brief the Commission on the key findings of their draft report titled, “WDFW Hatchery and Fishery Reform Policy Implementation Assessment; Draft Progress Report, 2009-2019.” The report includes an assessment of implementation of the 11 policy guidelines relative to defined metrics in a report card format, for the time period since the Commission’s policy (C-3619) was adopted in 2009. There will be an opportunity for public comment toward the end of the workshop.
