Dear Columbia River Commercial Fisher:

We are writing to inform you that applications are currently being accepted for participation in Columbia River commercial seine fisheries during the 2016 fall season. Applications are available on-line at the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) website (wdfw.wa.gov/licensing/commercial/limited_emerging.html) or see enclosed copy. Applications must be received by midnight June 17, 2016 and must be submitted as a hardcopy via mail delivery (USPS, FedEx, UPS), or via FAX or via email. This application is the first step required if you are interested in participating in commercial fisheries using beach or purse seine gears on the Columbia River this fall. As you know, the states of Oregon and Washington have adopted policies that provide for a transition in Columbia River commercial fisheries which, over time, would favor gear types that facilitate mark-selective or live-capture fisheries. To inform this transition and continue investigations into selective gear types, commercial fisheries using beach and purse seines are planned for the 2016 fall season.

The 2016 seine fisheries will be limited entry. Permits will be randomly awarded (by gear type) to qualified individuals. Qualified individuals include those persons who possess or operate under a current Columbia River commercial salmon license and can demonstrate (through fish tickets) that salmon landings have occurred from the mainstem Columbia River or Select Area fisheries within the past two calendar years (2014-2015).

WDFW will be administering the random drawing related to this fishery. Qualified individuals that apply will be selected at random to receive an experimental fishery permit specific to gear type. The drawing for permits will occur soon after the application deadline and successful applicants will be notified immediately. Award notifications for successful applicants are expected to occur no later than June 24, 2016. If an individual is drawn for a permit, the applicant must respond within ten (10) business days of being notified to accept the permit and pay any fees due.

Washington residents that are drawn will need an Emerging Fishery license ($290 fee) and an experimental fishery permit (no fee), both issued by WDFW upon receipt of payment. Oregon residents that are drawn will need an experimental gear permit ($32 fee) issued by Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife (ODFW) upon receipt of payment. Experimental fishery/gear permits are not transferable between persons. The permit holder must be present and in possession of a valid permit during seine fishing operations.
One of the goals of this fishery is to collect gear-specific information from remaining river sections where fishing was limited in 2014 and 2015. To facilitate more representative modeling of full-fleet fisheries, additional data for beach seining in Zones 2 and 3 and purse seining in Zones 1 and 3 is needed to fill remaining “data gaps”. To increase interest in fishing these Zones, the number of fish allocated to each permit will be increased for 2016. However, given the total seine sub-allocation, it is anticipated that only two purse and two beach seine permits will be issued. All seine fishing operations will be expected to have a Department observer present.

Seine fisheries will be mark-selective for both Chinook and Coho, allowing only adipose-fin clipped salmon to be kept. In order to reduce risk of exceeding ESA impacts allocated for this fishery, each permit will be allocated an individual fish quota (IFQ) which is expected to be:

<tr>
<td>Adult Coho:</td>
<td>400</td>
<td>600</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Steelhead:</td>
<td>320</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Sale of hatchery jacks (Chinook and Coho) will be allowed and do not count towards the permit IFQ.

The fishery is expected to focus on the late August through mid-September timeframe but the actual fishing period(s) will be adopted by the Columbia River Compact. Beyond the value of the landed catch, no additional financial reimbursement will be provided for participating in this fishery.

Enclosed is an application for your convenience. A copy of the emergency rule filed in Washington for an emerging fishery describing the qualifications of applicants, permit drawing process, gear description, and potential regulations will be available on WDFW’s website. Physical descriptions of commercial fishing zones can be found on ODFW’s website.
