Rulemaking Petition: Reducing non-tribal Columbia River gillnetting consistent with the $14.4 million voluntary gillnet buyback funded by the Washington Legislature

Proposed Rule Language:

Consistent with the intent of the voluntary Columbia River non-tribal commercial fishery buyback program funded in 2022, the department shall reduce the fishery impacts allocated to the Columbia River non-tribal commercial fishery compared to the allocations in place from 2017-2021 using the department's calculation of reduced impacts associated with licenses retired under the buyback program. The department shall utilize these impacts for conservation purposes, including in connection with mark-selective fisheries, in a manner consistent with state-tribal fishery management agreements and the Columbia River Compact.

Background:

A $14.4 million voluntary gillnet buyback was included in Section 308(65) of the 2022 Supplemental Operating Budget (ESSB 5693). Subsection (b) of the proviso directed WDFW to reserve for conservation the harvest impacts associated with purchased licenses. The specific language reads as follows:

(b) For all licenses purchased, the department shall calculate the reduced impacts to wild and endangered stocks based on the most recent five-year average of harvest and reserve those impacts for conservation through increased wild salmonid escapement or mark selective fisheries capable of harvesting surplus hatchery-reared salmon where needed to meet federal genetic protection requirements for wild salmon populations in a manner consistent with state-tribal fishery management agreements.

Consistent with Subsection (b) of the proviso, WDFW should reduce the mainstem non-tribal gillnet fishery and utilize those reserved impacts to benefit conservation -- through increased escapement of wild salmonids, including ESA-listed species, and for use in mark-selective fisheries capable of harvesting hatchery fish.

In September 2023, WDFW Director Kelly Susewind released a statement indicating that WDFW would not concur with ODFW to jointly approve an additional day of fall mainstem gillnetting based on its calculation of the impacts required to be reserved under the $14.4 million gillnet buyback. The resulting Oregon-only gillnet fishery, which had little participation, was a small first step towards improving conservation through the buyback.

By adopting this rule, WDFW and the Commission can ensure that the primary intent of the buyback – reducing non-tribal mainstem gillnetting – will be rule in Washington. WDFW can then negotiate with ODFW through the Columbia River Compact to address any areas of non-concurrence, similar to what has occurred annually since 2021.

The actual voluntary gillnet buyback budget proviso language from Section 308(65) of the 2022 Supplemental Operating Budget (ESSB 5693) is attached.

Also attached is a list of the retired licenses.

FINAL 2022 WASHINGTON BUDGET LANGUAGE APPROVED BY THE HOUSE, SENATE & GOVERNOR

Voluntary Buyback Program

$14,400,000 of the general fund—state appropriation for fiscal year 2023 is provided solely for the department to reduce the number of nontribal commercial gillnet fishing licenses on the Columbia river through a voluntary buy-back program.

- (a) Until November 30, 2022, the department may pay up to $25,000 each for licenses that have been inactive since 2019 and up to $120,000 each for licenses that have been active since 2019. After November 30, 2022, the department may pay up to $20,000 each for licenses that have been inactive since 2019 and up to $96,000 each for licenses that have been active since 2019. It is the intent of the legislature that this will be the last appropriation made to buy back licenses for the Columbia river gillnet fishery.
- (b) For all licenses purchased, the department shall calculate the reduced impacts to wild and endangered stocks based on the most recent five-year average of harvest and reserve those impacts for conservation through increased wild salmonid escapement or mark selective fisheries capable of harvesting surplus hatchery-reared salmon where needed to meet federal genetic protection requirements for wild salmon populations in a manner consistent with state-tribal fishery management agreements.
- (c) The department must make recommendations to the legislature for any necessary changes in statute, regulations, or program funding levels to transition lower Columbia river mainstem gillnet fisheries to alternative, selective fishing gears, including pound nets or other gears capable of benefitting wild salmon conservation through mark-selective harvest practices. The recommendation must be submitted to the appropriate committees of the legislature by December 1, 2022.

$14.4 Million Voluntary Gillnet Buyback Funded by the Washington Legislature

A total of 172 licenses were retired as part of the $14.4 million voluntary gillnet buyback program and less than 70 licenses remain. Of these remaining licenses, only 11 licenses had Columbia River salmon landings in the five-year period covered by the buyback. The retired licenses were responsible for 87% of Chinook and Coho landings made by Washington license holders.

The list of individuals/corporations who voluntarily sold their license(s) can be found in the table below.
